

Claims:

1. A process for improving fidelity of a projected image of a photomask comprising, placing gray bars between image features;
setting the light transmissivity of the gray bars to be less than 100% and greater 5 than 0%;
adjusting the size, spacing and spatial frequency of said gray bars to decrease background intensity and enhance image fidelity.

10 116598